

	Thursday 21st May 2020 Home Learning – Year 2 - Week 5 – Thursday
Reading 	Read the story on page 2. 'The Disgusting Sandwich' by Gareth Edwards Answer the questions on page 3, below the text.
Writing 	Today you are going to use your plan created yesterday and begin to write the first part of your story. You may find it useful to orally re-tell the story of Rumpelstiltskin first, then innovate to your own version using the characters and changes you made on your plan. Practise telling the story to yourself in front of a mirror, maybe go to your bedroom and tell the story to your teddy? It helps to say each sentence out loud before writing. Remember to use different words to begin your sentences, use adjectives to describe and conjunctions to make your sentences longer and more interesting.
Maths 	Week 4 Lesson 4 To identify halves, thirds and quarters of shapes In this lesson, we will identify how to find halves, thirds and quarters of different shapes.
Topic 	Science Watch the video about rubbish then try the sorting activity. https://www.bbc.co.uk/bitesize/topics/zrsgk7/articles/z9w26sg Your task is to help with recycling at home, empty the bins!
Fabulous Finish 	Don't forget to do at least 20 minutes Reading for Pleasure! We recommend: http://www.magickeys.com/books/invis-allig/index.html Invisible Alligators Maths fluency: Can you count in 2's using odd numbers? Spellings - Last chance to practise all your –ness suffix words. You could paint them, write them in bubble letters, use magnetic letters, chalk them on your path.

The Disgusting Sandwich

By Gareth Edwards

In a clump of trees on the edge of a park there lived a badger. He was a very hungry badger and his tummy wouldn't stop grumbling.

One day a boy came to the park and he had a sandwich with him. It had fresh white bread and crunchy peanut butter. It was a beautiful sandwich.

The boy took his sandwich to the playground and he was about to take a bite when a girl bumped him and it fell into the sandpit. Now the fresh white bread was covered in gritty sand. "Well" said the girl "you can't eat it now, it's disgusting!"

So instead a squirrel found the sandwich because she didn't mind the sand. She carried the sandwich into the tree to share it with her children. But they weren't good at sharing and the sandwich dropped out of the tree and into a pond. "Well" said the mother squirrel "we can't eat it now, it's disgusting!"

A frog saw the sandwich floating in some gloopy, green pondweed and it smelled of rotten eggs! The frog didn't mind the sand and the smelly, green gloop. He pulled the sandwich out to eat it on the path but the boy on the scooter raced by and he had to jump out of the way. Now the sandwich had a big, black squish mark right across the middle. "Well!" said the frog, "I can't eat it now, it's disgusting!"

Next a crow saw the sandwich and she didn't mind the sand, the smelly, green gloop, and the black squish marks. She peeled the sandwich off the path and flew proudly up to her nest to give it to her mum. But unfortunately a scary flying thing frightened her and she dropped the sandwich into an ants' nest. Hundreds of ants crawled all over it. "Well!" said the crows' mother, "I can't eat it now, it's disgusting!" Soon a fox found the sandwich and he didn't mind the sand, the smelly, green gloop, the black squish marks or the hundreds of ants. He took it as a present for a lady fox he liked but when he opened his mouth to tell her how nice she looked the sandwich fell into a pile of feathers.

Now the sandwich was covered in grimy, old feathers. "Well!" said the fox's friend "I can't eat it now, it's disgusting!" She kicked the sandwich into the flowerbed and went off to go through some bins. In amongst the flowers were some slugs and they didn't mind the sand, the smelly, green gloop, the black squish marks, the hundreds of ants or the grimy, old feathers. They slithered all over the sandwich, crisscrossing it with trails of slippery slime and oozy grey bubbles.

Finally as the moon came out, along came the badger and he was hungrier than ever. He gazed at the sandwich all covered in sand, the smelly, green gloop, the black squish marks, the hundreds of ants, grimy, old feathers, slippery slime and oozy grey bubbles glistening in the moonlight. His tummy rumbled. So he ate up all the slugs but he didn't eat the sandwich because it was too disgusting!

Reading questions

- 1) Why did the boy drop the sandwich?
- 2) Which animal was the first to find the sandwich and where did they take it?
- 3) What made the big, black squish mark?
- 4) Why did the fox drop the sandwich?
- 5) What time of day was it when the badger found the sandwich?
- 6) How many words (synonyms) can you think of for the word disgusting?

Story plan

Opening	Characters	Your ideas
Old Miller, daughter King Rumpelstiltskin	Farmer, his son, Queen Tingletangle
Build up Miller is boastful . King wants his straw made onto gold	Farmer is boastful . Queen wants her carrots turned into jewels
Problem Rumpelstiltskin helps. Asks for a reward. Necklace, ring and baby	Tingletangle helps. Asks for a reward. Watch, boots, favourite horse
Resolution Find out my name and you can keep the baby	Find out my name and you can keep the horse.
Ending Messengers discover his name. She keeps the baby	Birds discover his name. He keeps the horse.

This is my plan that I made yesterday, I'm going to use it to write my story today.

I must rehearse my sentences out loud.

I need to remember to include all my Y2 Champion Writer features!

Suggested to help you...

In a far off land there lived an old farmer and his son. They were very poor because their land was stony and things didn't grow well. Each day the Queen rode past the farm in her golden carriage but she never noticed the old farmer toiling in his fields.

The farmer really wanted to impress the Queen so he came up with an idea. Early the next morning as she rode past he pointed to his carrots and shouted boastfully 'My son can turn these carrots into precious jewels.' There was nothing the Queen loved more than glittering rubies and shiny diamonds so she ordered her driver to stop the carriage. 'Is that true?' she demanded. The farmer's son was not very clever so he just nodded his head mutely.

'Come with me to my castle, now!' she commanded bossily. 'You shall turn all my carrots into rubies, diamonds and emeralds. The farmer's son had no choice but to follow. (Well, you don't ignore the Queen, do you?). When they got to the Queen's castle she locked him in a room full of carrots and ordered him to do his magic, telling him she'd be back first thing in the morning. The farmer's son sat on a box in the corner with his head in his hands and began to weep. Instantly a peculiar little man appeared before him. 'Hello, I'm Tingtangle' he said in a strange croaky voice. 'Would you like me to help you?'

Stop when your strange character has appeared – we will continue tomorrow